

Romans 6v1-7

Sin has no authority in the lives of Christians

1 Someone might say, 'Perhaps we should continue to do wrong things. Then God can be kind to us in more and more ways.' 2 No! Certainly we should not do that! Sin does not rule our lives any longer. That old life is dead! So it is not right that we should continue to do wrong things. 3 Remember what our baptism shows. When they baptized us, it shows that we are united with Christ Jesus. It also shows that, because Christ died, our old life also died. 4 Our baptism shows that they buried us, just like they buried Christ after his death. It is as if we died with him and they buried us with him. Because of that, God will also raise us, just as he raised Christ from death. God the Father is so great and powerful that he raised Christ to a new life. That means that we also can live our lives in a new way.

5 We have become united with Christ, and we have died like he died. Because of that, we will also be united with him in his new life. Just like Christ rose, we also will rise to a new life. 6 We know that God has caused our old nature to die with Christ on the cross. This happened so that God could make us free from the power of sin in our lives. We are no longer like slaves who have sin as their master. 7 Sin no longer has any authority over someone who has died.
